BANK BEGAN 110 YEARS AGO

Bank of Montreal Was Founded in Modest Way by Merchants of Canadian Metropolis

HAS CONTRIBUTED MUCH TO CANADA

The Bank of Montreal will celebrate tomorrow its 110th anniversary, an event which coincides with the establishment by the bank of a new record. Its total assets at the end of September being in excess of $819,000,000, which is not only the highest figure in the annals of the bank, but establishes a total never before attained by any bank in the history of this country.

The bank started with one small office in rented premises in Montreal, with a paid-up capital of $50,000. Today it has over 600 branches scattered throughout the Dominion and New England, and its own offices in the financial centres of Great Britain, France, the United States and Mexico, while its paid-up capital amounts to $1,000,000, with a reserve account of a like amount.

On June 23, 1817, nine merchants of Montreal signed articles of association for the establishment of the Bank of Montreal. This action marked the foundation of the Bank of Montreal, which today holds the distinction of being by far the oldest institution of its kind in British North America, and one of the largest financial institutions in the British Empire. It also established the beginnings of the Canadian banking system.

In the first year after its establishment the bank opened a branch at Quebec, thus introducing into Canada branch banking, one of the elements that have contributed in marked degree to the stability and elasticity of the Canadian banking system.

From its very inception the bank has been a leading factor in stimulating the overseas trade of the country, as it has been a constant and increasing factor in the promotion of domestic trade. From the very first, too, it has taken a notable part in the development of the country's agricultural and other industries, and in transportation. It was associated with the early project of waterway development and the establishment of railways, just as in later years it helped in the expansion of the business of the Dominion by becoming medium through which vast sums of British and other capital were brought into this country for investment in its industries.

Its Victoria branch dates from 1891.

EMPIRE TRADE WINS FAVOR

VALUABLE PUBLICITY

"The publicity campaign now being organized by the Minister of Trade and Commerce, in co-operation with producers and exporters here and with British shopkeepers, should go a long way to promote still further the Dominion's export trade with the United Kingdom," said Major Johnson. "It may be that the Minister would welcome not only the tacit approval, but the active co-operation of groups of exporters or producers of such commodities as are in demand by the general public and which lend themselves to newspaper advertising, and more especially are appropriate for advertising display in the shops."

"Probably only those who have lived for some time in Great Britain and are in close touch with the Anglo-Canadian trade can fully understand the real value of publicity of this nature, supported as it is by a genuine and widespread desire on the other side to help, and, of course, not proposed to spend money in advertising products in the British market which cannot easily be identified to the consumer as Canadian. It is equally important that such products should be, in quality, a credit to the country, and that there is a reasonable prospect of a continuity of the supply."

LESSON TO CANADA

In Great Britain the movement on the part of cities, official and private organizations to promote Empire trading is "going strong" and it would be a splendid thing to see the same movement in progress in Canada.

TRADE WITH NORTH

"Canada's trade with Scotland and Northern Ireland is growing in common with that of the whole of the United Kingdom. In fact, considering the depression there since the post-war boom, the growth has been really remarkable. From $170,000,000 in 1913, the greatest total to that year, the Dominion's exports to Great Britain rose to $312,000,000 in 1921; $379,000,000 in 1923; $395,000,000 in 1925 and $508,000,000 in the fiscal year 1926. Allowing for the depreciation of gold, or general rise in prices, these figures are striking." Major Johnson continued.

GRAIN TRADE

"The great grain trade, of which Canadian grain is a world's standard of quality, is expanding, and the Dominion Government grain certificate is universally accepted as the hall mark of excellence. Scotland is probably the greatest market for Canadian Spring wheat flour, in proportion to population. It is in increasing demand, there because the system of baking in Scotland, different from that used in England, and the high-class character of the market require it. The cheese trade is a huge one, and Canada shares with New Zealand the leading place in the market. There has been a notable expansion in the trade in western butter in recent years, temporarily suspended, but a better continuity of supply is necessary to get a firm hold on the market. Bacon and hams are in good demand. Canadian canned fruits and vegetables, which until a year or so ago were largely conspicuous by their absence, are now coming into the market in considerable quantities."

Hard pioneer work has been necessary to get this result.

An outstanding feature in recent years has been the increasing business in Scotland in Canadian store cattle. The Scottish farmers are well pleased with the way in which they "feed up" into prime beef. Owing to higher prices on this continent at present, the trade has fallen off, but the demand is there and the growth of the trade, when it is resumed, will be the more rapid the sooner our shippers realize the necessity of meeting the demand for a lighter and younger animal.

TIMBER IN SCOTLAND

"The Scottish market is becoming an increasingly important one for British Columbia timber. Last year Douglas fir was the best and most economical timber in the Glasgow market, and is becoming more and more used for ship's decking, bulkheads and general purposes. Now that shipbuilding on the Clyde seems to be getting back to normal, there is room for an expansion in timber exports from this province, not only in Douglas fir, but in Sitka spruce for bulkheading in other woods as well. In Scotland there is a boom in the building of houses which will last for many years. Glasgow alone at least 50,000 short of requirements, and great areas on the outskirts are being built over. Such building, of course, requires great quantities of lumber. "While the bulk of this province's exports overseas of pichard meal and oil appear to go to the Continent, the demand for both meal and oil in Great Britain, and there are many in Glasgow who are prepared to buy the analyses fill the requirements."

"Many other Canadian products are normally sold in Scotland and Ireland, and in the case of such products, for instance, canned salmon, wooden hardware, rubber footwear, apples and fruit, cereal foods, refined sugar, motor cars, kraft paper and cardboard."

During today, tomorrow and Thursday, Major Johnson will be ready to meet business people through arrangement with the local offices of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. It is five years since he was here previously.

DR. SCHOFIELD RETURNS HOME

At the same time, the Synod was called upon to face other serious questions that demanded attention. There were those who spoke for India's millions, and urged the creation of a bishopric in the District of Kangra. The needs of native Christians in China, harried and persecuted, yet remaining loyal to their Christian faith, were presented dramatically before the assembled delegates. Fortunately, the Canadian Bishop of Hong Kong, Right Rev. Wm. C. White, had followed a policy that had prepared the way for the independence of the Chinese Church in that section of the country.

In his sermon to the Synod Bishop White declared: "The task is ours to plant the church in each separate nation, not only for the perfection of its national character and the attainment of its national destiny, but so that all nations of men, with their various contributions, may be welded into the world-wide fellowship of the Kingdom of God."

'COMMISSION APPOINTED'

Action leading to the establishment of a pension fund on an actuarial basis for aged and retired clergy was carried several steps to make a final accomplishment, the bishop reported.

A simpler executive organization of the church's varied activities was recommended by the creation of an executive council, composed of members representative of all parts of the Dominion, and to be entrusted with the responsibility of considering various departments of the church's work in relation to the whole, and endeavoring to secure for each proportionate support.

A significant outcome of the discussion of these and other matters, the bishop explained, was the appointment of a national commission to make a study of the various problems and needs of the church in the light of the reports of the executive committees of the various synods, the General Board of Religious Education, and the Social Service Council, the Beneficence Committee, and the National Laymen's Committee.

The resolutions submitted to and passed by the General Synod, together with all appeals of whatever character relating to the work of the church in the home or foreign field, and to arrange a plan by which the work of the National Laymen's Committee may be continued and its work expanded.

Finally, the bishop declared, there was a strong desire among members of the Synod "to associate the Church of Canada with the world call of the church in the Mother Land which has so profoundly stirred the hearts of members of the Church of England throughout the world."

Palestine raised more than 1,000,000 pounds of tobacco in the past twelve months.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—Municipal elections will be held tomorrow for every city or borough in England, except the London County Council. One-third of the members of the various municipal councils, except London, retire at the end of the municipal year, and the annual elections are held on November 1. The members of the London County Council retire simultaneously every three years.

In seventy municipalities there are 1928 candidates, as follows: Labor-Socialists, 782; Conservatives, 580; Liberals, 306, and Independents, 280.

The Socialists are making strenuous efforts to increase their hold on municipalities. The Conservatives are at a disadvantage because they automatically relinquish a large number of seats this year than their opponents.

All the parties have increased the number of women candidates compared with last year.

WAR VETERAN ADMITS GUILT

Hector Turner Pleads Guilty to Stealing Money on Inspection Tour

Hector Turner, a war veteran, and for sixteen years a member of the Victoria Fire Department, pleaded guilty in the City Police Court yesterday to a charge of stealing approximately $110 from the laundry premises of a China man, John Wong, 877 Pandora Avenue, while on inspection tour for the fire department on October 25, and was remanded by Magistrate George Jay until this morning for sentence.

The circumstances of the case were related to the court by Detective Marcus Phillips, after the accused had elected summary trial and admitted his guilt. The detective told of the Chinaman reporting that a sum of money was missing from his quarters, and upon investigation, how he discovered that Turner had taken the money out of the Chinaman's coat pocket while he was on an inspection tour.

He then took it home, Mr. Phillips said he found the Chinaman's wallet in Turner's possession and there was $105 in the pocketbook.

Turner's counsel, Mr. A. Munroe, Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson, Col. A. E. Hodgins and Mr. G. W. Allison, called by Mr. Patrick Sinnott, defence counsel, testified to the previous good character of Turner.

TIMBER SURVEY AGAIN DELAYED

RECOMMENDATION OF WATER COMMITTEE LAID ON THE TABLE UNTIL 1928

Alderman Woodward Will Reconsider His Decision to Resign From Chairmanship

The recommendation of the water committee that a preliminary survey of the Sooke watershed be made at a cost of $500 was laid on the table until the first meeting of the 1928 council by decision of last night's meeting of the council.

Mayor Pendray, Alderman Woodward and Alderman Brown voted that the work be proceeded with right away, while Aldermen H. O. Litchfield, J. B. Clearidge, James Adam, John Harvey, H. C. Hobbie, W. Mara, William Marchant and Robert Dewar voted for the deferment of the work.

Toward the end of last night's meeting of the council, the Mayor announced that he had decided upon Alderman Litchfield to replace Alderman Woodward on the water committee, as the latter had tendered his resignation in view of the alleged lack of policy on the part of the council in connection with the crusing of Sooke Lake timber.

Alderman Woodward explained that the water committee had experienced difficulty in putting through its resolutions because there was not enough aldermen on the committee. At present there were only Alderman Brown, himself and Mayor Pendray. He said he would be prepared to reconsider his decision if the committee were enlarged. Prior to this statement, Alderman Litchfield had asked Alderman Woodward to reconsider his decision.

Mayor Pendray will name additional members to the water committee at the next council meeting.

Must Fight Phil Scott, Is Commission's Ultimatum to Spanish Heavyweight Boxer

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Entanglements with the New York State Athletic Commission that have arisen to hamper Paolino Uscudino's attempts to fight his way into a title match with Gene Tunney multiplied today with the decision that the Spanish heavyweight must fight Phil Scott, of England, before escaping the suspension that now hangs over him.

Paolino was "set down" two weeks ago for refusal to go through with the match, scheduled for November 4, at Madison Square Garden. He pleaded a sprained back and arm at that time, but the chairman of the Spaniard's managerial board, Al Mayer, told the commission today that Paolino refuses to fight Scott because of contract differences with Tex Rickard. Knute Hansen, Minnesota Dane, was substituted for Paolino several days ago.

RAIN AMOUNTS TO 4.74 INCHES

Weather Report for October Shows Sunshine is Twenty-Six Hours Below Average

According to information received from Mr. F. Napier Denison, superintendent of the Gonzales Observatory, the mean temperature for the month of October was fifty-four degrees. The maximum was sixty-four on October 15, while the minimum was thirty-eight on October 31, the lowest temperature on the glass being twenty-nine degrees last evening.

Rainfall totalled 4.74 inches, 1.95 inches above the average for October. Rainfall to date from January 1 was 16.49 inches, 1.81 inches below the average of 18.33 inches for that period. If the average yearly rainfall of 27.65 inches is to be maintained, there is yet 11.15 inches to be made up between now and December 31, but this is considered unlikely as the rainfall last year was only 21.11 inches.

Sunshine totalled 110 hours and forty-two minutes, twenty-six hours below the average on account of the wet cloudy month.

RAIN AMOUNTS TO 4.74 INCHES

Weather Report for October Shows Sunshine is Twenty-Six Hours Below Average

According to information received from Mr. F. Napier Denison, superintendent of the Gonzales Observatory, the mean temperature for the month of October was fifty-four degrees. The maximum was sixty-four on October 15, while the minimum was thirty-eight on October 31, the lowest temperature on the glass being twenty-nine degrees last evening.

Rainfall totalled 4.74 inches, 1.95 inches above the average for October. Rainfall to date from January 1 was 16.49 inches, 1.81 inches below the average of 18.33 inches for that period. If the average yearly rainfall of 27.65 inches is to be maintained, there is yet 11.15 inches to be made up between now and December 31, but this is considered unlikely as the rainfall last year was only 21.11 inches.

Sunshine totalled 110 hours and forty-two minutes, twenty-six hours below the average on account of the wet cloudy month.

PROFESSIONAL JURIES

At a conference of the Law Society of Sheffield a suggestion was raised that there should be professional juries composed of five persons. The proposal was elaborated by saying that such juries and jury women should have had fifteen years' experience in some trade or business but not in a profession; that they should be required to attend some school of law or institution where they would study the law of evidence and pass a qualifying examination in it. After this apprenticeship they should retire from business and become professional jurymen at salaries provided by the State, and thus become permanent juries with no axes to grind and no business and other prejudices. In fact, the contention was advanced that such juries would have one motive, namely, the attainment of justice.

The consensus of opinion in the English press is opposed to the proposal of professional jurymen. It is pointed out that juries as now constituted are not asked to administer the law; all they have to do is to give their decision on evidence and facts. They do not even decide what facts shall or shall not be put before them. Their duty is to give a common-sense verdict. The Manchester Evening News says that, as opposed to the present system, five jurymen who thought they knew the law as well as the judge would be a positive danger. The London Sunday Times thinks the legal knowledge of judges is sufficient to guide twelve men of average intelligence in the sifting of evidence. "A citizen," it says, "should be tried by a citizen and not by a hiring; it is only so that the quality of mercy will not be strained, and crime countered by a just and righteous indignation." Perhaps the most pertinent comment on the subject comes from The London Evening Standard in the following:

"The scope of the jurymen's influence is clearly defined. He is there to judge on questions of fact, to use the common sense of the common man in determining which of two conflicting statements is the more likely to be true. Moreover, his very dislike of the duty is one of the best guarantees of his fitness to discharge it. Dragged into court by the hairs of his head, reluctant and complaining, he has no interest, either personal or professional, in the matter he is called on to decide. Boredom is a sound basis for impartiality, much more so than an instructed technical interest. After all, if the amateur jurymen is an inconvenience, so is the amateur in many other activities. The very same man is not only called on to work under the law; he is also, as an elector, called on to decide the much more difficult issues of which the law is made. But no one suggests the appointment of professional electors, nor is the suggestion likely to be made. The amateur is subjected to many taunts and many troubles, but he bears them all with equanimity, because he knows that he is indispensable."

EDUCATING VOTERS

When the proposal of the Conservative Government in Britain for the granting of the franchise to women of twenty-one years of age comes before Parliament it is assumed that it will be approved practically unanimously. The Liberals and the Laborites favor such an extension of the vote. It is opposed in no quarter with any influence, but everywhere it is recognized that there should be some scheme of education to enable young women to exercise the franchise with some knowledge of political conditions. Knowledge of political matters as between the sexes varies, and it certainly varies at a youthful age. Men at twenty-one are better equipped for the exercise of the franchise than women of the same age, probably because their environment is different. The proposal is now put forward that something should be done in the schools to enable girls to take an interest in politics and so use their votes intelligently when the occasion arises. At present the system of education in Britain omits modern politics from school courses. There is no attempt made to encourage an interest in public affairs. Girls grow up, finish their school age and emerge into the world as it were, with the haziest knowledge of how their country is governed. This is because state schools do not seem to regard a political course as important in educational development. It is generally looked upon as a specialized course, only for the selected few, and, as to teaching international politics, which should be known if the vote is to be exercised intelligently, the knowledge is rarely implanted and never occupies any place in a school curriculum. The hard-headed, practical Briton sees the possibility of an untrained vote in the granting of the franchise to women at twenty-one. Instead of saying that because of this it should not be granted he is knocking down to the task of seeing what can be done to make the vote intelligent. It would be well if, in other countries where there is universal franchise, a similar course were followed.

THE INITIATIVE

The party of Mr. de Valera in the Irish Free State proposes to take steps to introduce the American system of Initiative. This is the power given to a certain number of citizens to frame a Bill on any subject and submit it to Parliament. The legislative body would be compelled to discuss it and either pass it into law or submit it to the electorate by way of a referendum. The number of persons who can take the Initiative, according to the Fianna Fail proposal, is 50,000. Mr. Bolton C. Waller, writing in The Irish Statesman, says what would happen is that a few persons would frame the Bill and proceed to "beat up signatures." The latter he regards as an easy task since people will sign anything which seems fairly attractive so long as they are approached in the proper fashion. This process Mr. Waller thinks would have no real weight or authority behind it. Mr. Waller says that "whatever criticisms have been made of the average Government or the average deputy, they do act with a certain sense of responsibility, and are bound to consider any single Bill in relation to other matters; for example, finance. The framers of an initiated Bill are wholly irresponsible. They are not forced to hold the balance between what they desire and what is practicable." In the case of an initiated Bill it is framed by enthusiastic supporters who disregard objections to it, and such a Bill forwarded on the Initiative basis has either to be accepted by Parliament or submitted to a referendum, and in either case expense is involved. The Initiative gives citizens the power to whip Parliament into action, and it is asked what can be more democratic than that a certain number of citizens should be able to adopt this course. It is, however, a course which is opposed to British ideas of responsible government which resides in the elected representatives of the people as expressed through Parliament. What the Initiative would do is to give a small section of the people a power which is inherent in parliaments. It is contrary to the ideas of British Government and it is highly probable that the proposal will meet with strong opposition. Should it ever become operative in any part of the British Isles, we venture to prophesy that its own inherent defects will prove its condemnation.

State education which excludes religion from the schools is excluding spiritual culture as well. S. G. Long, writing in The Teachers' World, sums up the present trend of governmental efforts to instruct in saying: "Progress in education we applaud, but neglect of spiritual culture we must deplore. Is progress in secular education really worth while, if it is to be purchased at the price of neglect of spiritual culture? Surface facts rather than fundamental truths impress the mind. The law of logic is enthroned and the secrets of the soul are scarce considered. So there follows a demand for what is called 'the practical'; for 'realism' in life; which would be quite good, were it not that the true meaning of the terms is so little understood, and thus often simply means the abandonment of all that belongs to the ideal."

Admirable comment on the craze for writing memoirs in connection with the Great War is forthcoming from The London Star. It says: "It is one of the unavoidable results of a war, in which so many millions of men were involved as in the Great War, that each person who could be called a leader wants to be associated with it by history and produces a book. Many hundreds of these volumes in all languages have already disappeared down the stream of time, and many hundreds of others will follow. It shows the danger of taking such works as history. . . . Obviously there may be qualifications and misstatements in such phrases, and by this time we can never tell who really 'won the war.' Probably it was the ordinary man who keeps no diary."

Words of Wisdom

By experience we find out a shorter way by a long wandering. Learning teacheth more in one year than experience in twenty.—Roger Acham.

Those who would give up essential liberty to purchase a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety.—Benjamin Franklin.

God grants liberty only to those who love it, and are always ready to guard and defend it.—Daniel Webster.

He is not dead who departs this life with high fame; dead he, though living, whose brow is branded with infamy.—Tieck.

AN OLD MAN'S DYING WISH

Give me but six feet three (one inch to spare) On Irish ground and dig it anywhere. And for my poor soul an Irish prayer Above the spot.

Let it be hill, where cloud and mountain meet, Or vale where grows the tufted meadow sweet, Or barren, trod by peasant's shoeless feet.—It matters not.

I love them all, the vale, the cloud, the hill; The morning sea, the flagger-lilied rill, The yellow fruse, the lakeshore lone and still, The wild bird's song.

But more than hill or valley, bird or moor, More than the green fields of my river Bour, I loved these hapless ones, the Irish poor, All my life long.

Little I did for them in outward deed; And yet be unto them of praise the need. For the stiff figure I made 'gainst lust and greed, I learned it there.

So give me Irish grave 'mid Irish air; With grass above it growing anywhere; And let some passing peasant breathe a prayer For the soul there.

—Sir William Butler.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Saturday was one of the most delightful days of the year. The air was as balmy as the air on a day in June, and the sun was shining brightly and the rays of the sun were warm. It was the kind of day which entices our old friend Mike out of doors to bask in the sunshine and to inhale the life-giving air. But, notwithstanding the benignity of Nature, we could see that Mike was not happy—that he "had something on his mind"—and when Mike has something on his mind that perplexes him, he likes to transfer his perplexity to us, thus relieving his mind to some extent of the trouble that perplexes him.

Mike began the process of relieving his mind by stating once again that he never read the papers; but he said someone had been telling him about something that had been printed in the papers about an old controversy in a new form between the Fundamentalists and the Evolutionists. Mike, of course, is a Fundamentalist. He admits that he has little learning, and believes that it is his duty to believe what he is told by his philosophical and theological superiors. He has no doubt whatever about the fundamental truth of the story of creation. He believes that this world and all the creatures in it, from proud man right down the scale to the tadpole, and even lower down than the tadpole, were created in six days, and pronounced perfect.

Finally, Mike announced that what was troubling him was the story of the serpent, which he called a snake. There were no snakes in Ireland. Mike had never seen a snake until he came to this country, and he had seen some big and ugly snakes in the southern part of this continent, where he first landed on coming to America. Mike had as deep-rooted and fundamental a horror of snakes as St. Patrick, who drove all the snakes out of Ireland. Why should snakes have been created and left loose to make their sinuous way through that perfect place, the Garden of Eden?

Furthermore, what kind of a snake was it that tempted the mother of all mankind and upset the whole fundamental scheme of things? Was it a reptile of the constructive kind or a noxious creature of the poisonous kind? If it was a rattlesnake, was it created complete, rattles and all? Or were the rattles tied to its tail as an afterthought for the protection of the rest of the creatures of the world against its darting ugly head and deadly fangs? If it was a reptile of the constructive kind, was it endowed with its horrible crushing powers to begin with, or did it develop the power of those deadly embraces by its own volition? Did the poison in the glands of one variety of snake and the more fearsome crushing powers in the long body of the other variety of snake "just grow," like Topsy, thus substantiating the theory of evolution, or were the reptiles in the Garden as completely equipped for their special business in life as the snakes of today, thus confirming the position of the Fundamentalists?

We could not relieve the mind of Mike of his perplexities. We did suggest to him that under the original creative plan all the creatures placed in the Garden of Eden appeared to have been vegetarians; that the lion and the lamb were in the habit of lying down together; that if there had been any necessity for such a thing, the tiger would have gently supervised the gambols of the playful kid instead of cunningly stalking it, striking it down with its powerful paws, rending it to pieces and gobbling it up.

But what consolation for a perplexed Fundamentalist mind could there be in such suggestions? For if all the creatures in the beginning were perfect after their kind and there could be no strife between them, as they did not have to kill in order to eat and live, some malign force must have come into action and changed the diabolic habits of both man and beasts, some of them becoming omnivorous and most of them carnivorous in their habits. If Mike had accepted that suggestion he would have been accepting the theory of evolution, although a fundamentalist Fundamentalist.

We could see that the soul of Mike was not comforted or his heart cheered by such idle speculations. In that respect we suspect his case was just like the cases of other idle speculators on matters that really are of no particular importance.

The Rhyming Optimist

By Aline Michaelis

Dear Days-To-Be, so far away, all shadowless, serene and gay, I turn to greet with eager eyes your somewhat pathos, your childish skies; Oh, not for dull, dark days like these, but for your celestial harmonies; but brighter far than days we see your hours will glow, O Days-To-Be! How can it be the future gleams always like some rare land of dreams? For surely from the Days-That-Are was the web of days spun, And Days-To-Be glow dark or bright to match the passing hours; flight, they take their colors from today, a tender rose or sombre grey.

Dear Days-To-Be, serene and far, that beckon like a silver star, may I now weave life a web aright, and keep your promise of delight!

MUNICIPAL LAW

Sir—The recent convention of the Union of Municipalities has aroused a good deal of criticism of one sort or another. The various resolutions passed and not passed are criticized, but there is very little comment on the really extraordinary fact that a body consisting almost entirely of people with no interest in, or logical right to concern themselves with, the domestic affairs of the City of Victoria presume to say, and will later presume to tell the Legislature, what Victoria shall or shall not be allowed to do in managing its private domestic business.

"R.B.D." in his column of "Note and Comment" calls the resolution in favor of raising the salaries of mayor and aldermen "one example of the curious manner in which the principles of democracy are applied," and after observing that Victoria taxpayers, if asked, might object, applies the term "advanced principles of modern democracy" to the proceedings of the convention.

With all respect to "R. B. D.," the almost complete absence of any principle of modern democracy from our system of municipal government is most strikingly evidenced by the fact that the Union of Municipalities is a body shown by the constitution of the Union, by the work the Union tries to do, and most of all by the fact that the work needs doing.

If the people of Victoria were really governed by the people for the people what need would there be for outside governments to discuss how Victoria is or may be governed?

Would it not be extraordinary if a convention of members of the Legislature of Ontario, Quebec and the other Provinces were to tell the Dominion Parliament to raise the salaries of the British Columbia Legislature or to compel British Columbia to provide free libraries for all American citizens who own any property in British Columbia? I don't think "R. B. D." would call that applying "advanced principles of democracy" to the Government of British Columbia, yet that is the way municipal laws are made. Municipal government will not be "democratic" and most certainly it will not be efficient until the present Municipal Act, with the crazy-quilt of amendments, private acts, special charters and so forth that have been piled on in the endeavor to give a democratic appearance to a structure originally designed to defeat the aims of "democrats," is entirely overhauled and a new act framed, based on the principle that people who are competent to manage their own business in "one sphere" of Dominion affairs are also competent to manage their own business in the really rather small field of municipal affairs.

Let us in Victoria give a lead by framing a charter that will enable the City Council to manage the business of the city without having to ask the Legislature every time it wants to do something new, and will at the same time enable the citizens to prevent the Council acting in defiance of their expressed will.

P. R. LEIGHTON.

Problems of Pacific

Since his return from the Far East, Dean R. W. Brock, of the University of British Columbia, has spoken several times on the subject of the problems confronting countries on both sides of the Pacific, and at 8:15 o'clock on Thursday evening, at Victoria College, he gave the first of a series of four lectures, his theme being "China." The University Extension Association invite all who are interested in the matter to be present at this lecture. Dr. Alfred Noyes, C.B.E., Litt.D., famous English author, poet and critic, has arrived in Canada on a speaking tour under the auspices of the National Council of Education and will give a lecture in this city on Monday evening, November 21. The lecture which will include readings from the narrative poems for which Mr. Noyes is world famous, is to be held in the First United Church and only a nominal admission will be charged to meet the expenses incurred locally. In common with other speakers brought to Canada from England by the National Council of Education, Mr. Noyes is giving his services entirely free. He is a speaker of outstanding merit.

Mr. Alfred Noyes, poet and critic, was born in the county of Staffordshire on September 16, 1860. He was educated at Exeter College, Oxford, and in 1913, when he was already internationally famous as a poet, he was given the Honorary Degree of Doctor of Literature by Yale University. During the following year he was elected to the professorship of Modern English Literature on the Murray Foundation, Princeton University. During the Great War, barred from active military service by his defective eyesight, Mr. Noyes worked untiringly for his country with his pen, and in 1916 the great value of his work was recognized by the honor of his appointment as Commander of the Order of the British Empire. Mr. Noyes was married in September to Mrs. Weld-Bundell, whose husband was killed early in the Great War, and his bride will accompany him to Victoria. During their stay in this city they will be guests of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor at Government House.

VICTORIA HOTEL MAN TELLS OF PROSPERITY

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 31.—Delegates to the convention of the American Hotel Association, which opened here today, attribute improved hotel business to good roads, and see a promise of better conditions in the future. "Approximately 300,000 motor cars passed through Victoria, B. C., last summer," said Stephen Jones, proprietor of the Dominion Hotel in Victoria. He added that a big wheat crop, together with improved farm and industrial conditions generally, were contributing to prosperity in Canada.

Junior Chamber

Those wishing to attend the next dinner of the Junior Chamber of Commerce on Thursday evening next in the dining-room of the organization are being requested to advise the office of the fact, so that reservations may be made for it. In connection with the dinner there will be a meeting which promises to be one of the most interesting ones that this live organization has held.

Visitors to the dinner will be welcome to attend if accompanied by a member. The dinner will begin at 6 o'clock.

One of the interesting subjects to come before the meeting will be a consideration of the difference between a partnership and a limited liability company. Local barristers will outline the difference at length, after which the privilege of asking questions will be afforded.

In addition to this there will be the opportunity afforded the members to hear the question of industrial development and publicity matters discussed by those well qualified to deal with these subjects. Ex-Mayor A. E. Todd, industrial adviser, and Mr. George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, will each cover their respective subjects and show how they affect general development.

NEW GASOLINE TO BE SOLD

Imperial Oil Company Will Place Product on Market Under Name of Premier Three Star

MOTORISTS SURE OF ADEQUATE AID

The wondering on the part of Victoria's citizens as to what the "Three Great Stars" was about at an end. The secret is revealed in large announcements in The Colonist which tell the story of British Columbia's new gasoline known as Premier Three Star.

The Imperial Oil Company, makers of this new gasoline, has succeeded in arousing a tremendous amount of interest throughout Vancouver Island in connection with this new product. "We have been informing the public through the columns of this newspaper that a new product was about to appear," stated Mr. Pat E. Corcoran, local manager of the Imperial Oil Company, yesterday.

"Never before has a new gasoline been introduced on the market with such a large amount of welcoming interest. The public is quite ready to accept Imperial products of an exceptional stamp, and the importance of its part on the merit of showing preference to products of local refinery of the Imperial Oil Company. The Imperial Oil Company has an investment of over $12,000,000 in this province. It also has a payroll of over two and one-quarter million dollars per year. Scientific experts have been devoted to the production of a better gasoline. The result is Premier Three Star.

"Its extreme volatility reveals it is a wonder fuel for quick starting in any type of car. This quick starting feature has been attained without the sacrifice of either mileage or power. In fact Premier Three Star will be found to have more power than the average gasoline found in the world today. Its flexibility makes it extremely helpful for modern driving conditions.

"The three stars, which is an important feature of the name, represent respectively, quick starting flexibility, and power.

"Motorists trying this gasoline will not need much argument with regard to the difference in the performance of their car. A test of this type quickly reveals whether it has the qualities which are claimed for it."

ACCUSED FACES SERIOUS COUNT

Frank De Walberg Is Released on $1,000 Bail—Jackson Harrison Charged with Conversion

Frank De Walberg, who was arrested by Detectives Jack Rogers and Walter Calwell, appeared in the City Police Court yesterday to face a charge that on October 30 he did unlawfully retain in his possession one radio loud speaker and other radio equipment to the value of more than $10, the property of Kent's Phonograph and Radio Store, knowing the same to have been stolen.

Mr. T. M. Miller, counsel for the accused, stated that De Walberg would reserve election, and secured a remand until Friday.

The accused was admitted to bail of $1,000, in two sureties of $500. A remand until tomorrow was granted in the case of Jackson Harrison, who was arraigned on a charge of having stolen $29 from John Manuel. He elected summary trial, and when asked to plead said that he had used the money, but did not steal it. He was arrested at Duncan by Detectives Marcus Phipps and William Stark.

BAIL IS FORFEITED
Hong Quan, a Chinaman, failed to appear in court to face a charge of unlawfully supplying beer to Indians, contrary to the Indian Act, and his bail of $100 was ordered forfeited, and a warrant for his arrest issued.

The three Indians to whom Quan had supplied the intoxicants, Tony Underwood, Sam Thomas and Peter Henry, were arraigned before Magistrate Jay, but the charges preferred against them were withdrawn by City Prosecutor Claude L. Harrison, who told the court that these men had come forward and admitted they had been in their possession, and had been Crown witnesses, giving the prosecution valuable information.

WOMEN ARE FINANCIERS

Mrs. Schofield Back From Triennial W.A. Meetings at Toronto—Responsible Work Undertaken

TORONTO MEETING ATTRACTS MANY

The women of the Anglican Church in Canada are shouldering a very heavy part of the church's financial responsibilities in undertaking 43 per cent of the mission budget for the forthcoming year. Mrs. G. D. Schofield, who attended the recent triennial meeting of the Women's Auxiliary in Toronto, was greatly impressed by the courage and optimism of the W. A. in undertaking such work. Had there been no other way of gauging the importance of the organization than their ability to share in the practical part of mission work to such an extent it would have been quite convincing proof of their strength. As a matter of fact, the W. A. has a membership of over 50,000 women at the present time, and they handle $200,000 annually.

Mrs. Schofield went to Toronto at the same time that Bishop Schofield went East to attend the sessions of the General Synod, the W. A. meeting being from October 19 to 21. Before this, however, she had to attend sessions of the W. A. executive. The meeting was the last triennial meeting of the W. A. as it has been decided hereafter to hold sessions annually. Reviewing some of the outstanding events of the convention, Mrs. Schofield recalled the addresses given by Bishop White and Provost Congrave, of Trinity College, during some of the sessions, and that by Canon Cody, who spoke at one of the evening meetings on the work of the League of Nations, which has the support of the W. A. An effort is being made by the W. A. to bring the Anglican Church to bring their Indian work up to a higher standard.

Hitherto the W. A. has striven after centralization, but a move in the opposite direction was observed this year in the moving of the Dorcas work headquarters to Winnipeg, where the M. S. C. C. offices are situated, in charge of Dr. Westcott.

Mrs. Schofield had nothing but the highest praise for the splendid organization shown in the arrangement for the triennial convention, Toronto arranging for the blighting and boarding of the more than 200 delegates from all over the Dominion.

Besides visiting Toronto, Mrs. Schofield went to Saint John, Rethel, Fredericton, Montreal, Detroit and Chicago, but expresses her pleasure at being back in Victoria once more.

League Schedule For Year Made

The schedule of the City Basketball League for the year made is announced as follows:

Ladders

In a new pair of stockings are too often regarded as an unkind act of fate. Really, they are the natural result of getting a pair out of old stock in the store. The same thing happens when you put away a pair. The fine silken strands rot gradually. No decay is visible, but there is a general weakening in the threads that will make itself apparent on the slightest strain. It is folly of the worst kind to put away white hose to use next summer, for they won't "keep." Swish them around in a little Twink, and use them now.

Twink is simple to work with, and won't in any way weaken the silk. Infrequently happens, too, that stockings take on a muddy tinge after a few washings. When worn, this gives an impression of dark skin beneath. A packet of Twink and some warm water will clean them and bring them to their original shade, or enable you to mix them to exactly match the colour of your frock and lingerie. Get some Twink from your drug store today.

HALLOWE'EN IS MERRILY KEPT

Yacht Club Is Scene of Popular Ball Under Daisy Chain Chapter Auspices—250 Present

Halloween was celebrated merrily by 250 young people who gathered at the Victoria Yacht Club last evening at the invitation of the Daisy Chain Chapter of the I.O.E. Whilst the police patrolled other quarters of the city in quest of boys on mischief bent in the customary Halloween pranks, youth in the gayest and most varied of costumes circled in the maze of fox-trot and waltz and one-step beneath witches and black cats and smiling pumpkin faces which wreathed the lights overhead or scaled the walls. To the accompaniment of seductive music the dance went on until the small hours, a brief intermission occurring only while the judges solved the difficult problem of assigning prizes where there were so many who merited them.

Mrs. S. P. Moody, regent of the Chapter, welcomed the young people as they arrived, associated with her as chaperones for the evening being Mrs. Umbach, Mrs. Sturt, Henderson and Mrs. Gailher. The judges were Mrs. Curtis Sampson and Mrs. Andrew Wright, and at about 10:30 o'clock after all the beautifully costumed dancers had circled the hall several times in the Grand March, the following were finally selected as the winners: Most original costume, lady, Miss Justa McKenna, as "Toy Soldier" gentleman, Mr. Horace Phillips, village idiot, best dressed characters, Argentinian riders, Miss Bradley Watson and Mr. K. Smith. These received their prizes from Mrs. Moody, the regent. Highly commended costumes were those worn by Mr. Noel Jones, dressed as a Pathan; by Miss Beatrice Hicks, as a Hawaiian girl; Miss Ena Henderson, old-fashioned lady; Mr. Elbeek Wilson, tramp; and Miss Sheila Stewart and Mr. Tom Woolfson, as a Dutch couple.

The decorations, both downstairs and in the supper-room, were beautifully carried out by Miss Millicent Umbach, whose medallion portrait and rampant black cats were both artistic and original. In the centre of the supper table was an enormous pumpkin, lighted from the inside, and with a withered-faced witch standing guard without. Red lights set in carrots and overhead lights set in hollow pumpkins served for illumination.

Numerous cowboys, Indians, Chinese mandarins, folies and pierrettes, torgadors, pirates, ballet dancers, Dutch boys and girls, old-fashioned ladies, and gentlemen, Mexicans, sheiks, Indians and character impersonations, made an amusing and ever-changing kaleidoscope of color. Among the dancers were Misses J. Ridgway, Eleanor Dinsdale, Justa McKenna, Janet Pearce, Blanche May, Sheila Gillespie, Alexa Bradshaw, Kaye Dinsdale, Nan Reid, Millicent Umbach, Audrey Tooley, Beatrice Hicks, Wilma Henderson, Ena Henderson, M. CHURCH BAZAAR

A collection of useful and fancy articles has been gathered for the bazaar which the ladies of the First United Church will hold in the church hall on the afternoon of November 5. Stalls will be replete with home cooking, handkerchiefs, aprons, candies and other articles. Afternoon tea and refreshments will be served.

The harassed-looking man was being shown over the factory. "That machine," said the guide, "does the work of thirty men." The man smiled grimly. "At last," he said, "I have seen what my wife should have married."

The new May Belle Bloomer is truly a treasure. You will love its slim, beautifully-tailored lines, its well-cut gusset, the easy-fitting comfort of its carefully-planned fullness. Snug frocks fit smoothly over it without the bulging or wrinkling that detracts from their smart, straight lines. Obtainable to match the vest either the regular or bobette style in all of those alluring pastel shades—the new May Belle Bloomer is truly a garment pleasing to the most fastidious.

All May Belle Lingerie is made from our own superb lockstitch rayon, guaranteed to retain its beautiful sheen and color. Look for the May Belle label.

"Stand still while I make you warm!"

CHILDISH wriggles are as inevitable as the loss of first teeth. They work havoc with buttons. They enlarge small openings until they admit dangerous, chilly draughts. LAVEREX LINE woggles overcome these difficulties. They have gussets and fastening flaps that guarantee a covering for the kiddies when almost all the buttons have been wriggled away. They are elastic enough to keep their shape in spite of the pull of perpetual motion. This elasticity is due to the length and curl of the soft botany wool employed. Each garment is tailored to give perfect comfort to small bodies. Many styles can be had in soft, warm, wool and silk-and-wool mixtures. Every material is carefully shrunk to save wash worries.

The same good shops that sell the WOODS LAVEREX LINE for women have these warm, healthful undergarments for children.

The Mirror of the Mode

By MARY MARSHALL

THE important thing to remember regarding the new bodice silhouette is that it should fit smoothly—but not really closely. The happy-go-lucky period in dress is apparently passing—the time when all that seemed to be necessary was to have a skirt short enough and closely fitted around the hips. Now the shoulders must fit if not snugly at least closely.

There does not, however, among the really smart women, seem to be any tendency to emphasize the actual waistline, and the girls who draw in the belts of their little one-piece frocks or jumper suits are following no fashion but their own. This new silhouette "en forme" must be taken into consideration in remodeling last season's frocks. Under-arm seams must be taken in a little and shoulder seams may have to be raised to adjust the right fullness to the slightly closer outlines.

Most women really like this new outline because if they are not out it does make them look decidedly slender. Suppose you have an old beaded frock to remodel. In the first place, get a bunch of beads as nearly to match those on the frock as possible. Then get some georgette or other material like that of the frock. You will probably find an under-arm seam. Open this and then adjust the gown so that there is no bagginess under the arm and a slight shaping of the waistline. Leave the gown open below the hip line and here insert a godet of the georgette. Now with your beads replace any that have come off and carry out the pattern where necessary to cover up the work of remodeling.

The gayest, smartest little apron I ever saw is one that a friend just brought me from Paris. It occurred to me that you might like to make some like it, so the little circular for this week shows a sketch of this apron with diagram-pattern and directions for making. Just send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Address: care of McClure Newspaper Syndicate, 373 Fourth Avenue, New York City.

The black beaded frock in its present version somewhat follows the line of the figure and is called a "robe en forme."

VISITING BISHOP HELD BY BANDITS
EL Rev. H. W. Mowll in City on Way Back to Diocese in China
Among the distinguished visitors who arrived in the city yesterday is Right Rev. Howard West Mowll, M.A., D.D., who, with his wife, suffered the terrifying experience of being captured and held by brigands in China. Bishop and Mrs. Mowll will leave here on Thursday by the Ss. Empress of Canada en route for Shanghai, but it will take them six weeks to reach their destination from there, the Bishop's diocese being in remote Western China, where he has been stationed since 1922.

A son of H. Martyn Mowll, of Chalderton, and born at Dover, England, Bishop Mowll is one of the youngest bishops in the Church of England. He was educated at King's School, Canterbury; King's College, and Ridley Hall, Cambridge. After coming to Canada he was, in 1913, appointed tutor at Wycliffe College, Toronto, a position which he held until he was given a professorship in 1916. He became dean of Wycliffe College in 1919, and only resigned this position on his appointment to the Western China diocese, with headquarters at Paoing, Szechwan.

TIMBER POLICY IS EXPLAINED

Hon. T. D. Pattullo Speaks on Forest Plans to Knights of Round Table—Address to Be Reproduced

SAYS LOGGING PRESSED ALREADY

"We have to live today to survive tomorrow," said Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, in addressing the Ye Knights of the Round Table last evening, on the subject of forest conservation. He complained that there were too much alarmist arguments used with respect to the subject and not enough constructive criticism. The Minister declared that in handling the timber situation it was impossible to put into effect some of the proposals that were often put forward. To do so would ruin the loggers, who even under the best of conditions had now trouble in getting along.

It was an easy matter to become an alarmist. The devastation which appeared before forests had been cut down, and which left a desolate scene was an easy one to use in picturing a theory of waste and destruction.

As a matter of fact, the Minister said, the trees that had been cut were in all probability ready for the felling. They were trees that had reached maturity. They were ready for cutting, and were really better so disposed of, in order to allow of the next crop of trees coming on. The removal of old forests made for reforestation.

He said there had been built up in the province of late a forest protection service that could not be excelled anywhere. There was in the province, according to the estimate, three hundred and fifty billion feet of over-matured timber. There was a large crop of timber coming in by nature's means.

NATURAL GROWTH

The natural method of regeneration, according to the Minister, was the best method of reforestation. It was, of course, impossible to make a general rule that

Her Interesting Experience

Buckingham, Quebec.—"I am the mother of eleven living children, and my baby is five months old. I am only 38 years old and I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness and my nervous system. For five years I was in misery and was always ready to cry. Swedish Prince to Visit Island Soon was applicable in this matter to all parts. It was often urged in connection with logging that there should be a plan adopted of forcing loggers to cut only the timber absolutely matured. Under the best of conditions at the present time the logging industry had more wrecks than perhaps any other one. It was impossible to put restrictions upon them that were not practical. Owing to altered conditions in the soil, it was found smaller trees were sometimes of the same age as the larger ones.

PRINCE WILLIAM OF SWEDEN. Internationally famous big game hunter, poet, pianist, and dramatic critic, who is to visit Vancouver Island unofficially during the next few days. Prince William is engaged in a lecture tour of western America, and is to speak to a Vancouver audience tomorrow night on "Hunting Big Game in Pigmy Land," with moving pictures.

It had been calculated that in some instances the original crop of Douglas fir and hemlock had attained a greater size in 60 or 100 years than would be reached by the second crop in four times that period.

LOG EXPORT. The Minister attacked the criticism that was often made about the shipping of timber out of the province in the raw state. Other regions were shippers of raw materials. In the United States, six times as much cotton was shipped out of the country in the raw condition as was sent out in the manufactured state. There were logs imported from the United States and sawed in Vancouver. There must be a certain amount of raw material shipped out. It was necessary under logging practices to take out all the merchantable timber at once. There was no trouble getting rid of the high-class logs in the Province of British Columbia. It was when the matter of the lower grades of logs and lumber, was reached that the difficulty was experienced.

In British Columbia there had been an increase in the production of late with decrease in the United States. The production here had been increased in no small extent by the coming in of American capital, utilized in manufacturing lumber here.

In moving a vote of thanks, which was proposed by Mr. W. T. Strathairn and Mr. H. Crowe, both of whom made reference to the instructive character of the address.

Dr. Douglas Graham, who was present after an absence for some time in the East, expressed the wish that the Minister might have his address reproduced in a form that a copy might be presented to each one of the members of the club. To this the Minister promised to accede.

PRESIDENT OF GREECE IS SHOT

Bullet Strikes Bone in Forehead—Wounded Man Returns Home After Operation

ATHENS, Oct. 31.—The President of Greece today was injured by a bullet fired by an unemployed waiter. The waiter was lodged in jail and told police that the attempt was made because the Greek State refused to support him during the time he was out of work.

Admiral Paul Kondouriotis, President of Greece, entered his automobile in front of the municipal building. Zapios Gousios, twenty-five, drew a revolver and fired two shots. One of the bullets passed through the windshield of the presidential automobile, shattering the glass in Admiral Kondouriotis' face and striking him in the right temple.

The crowd infuriated, rushed at the assailant and attempted to lynch him.

Police quickly surrounded the youth and hurried him off to jail. The President was rushed to a nearby hospital. Surgeons then issued this bulletin:

"The President was wounded in the right temple, the bone being splintered. The President bore a slight operation very well; his condition is satisfactory and he was able to return home."

DEMPSEY MAY BATTLE GENE TUNNEY NEXT JULY

RICKARD PLANS TO HAVE EX-CHAMP IN BOUT NEXT SPRING

Manassa Mauler and Promoter Have Lengthy Confab at New York—Will Fight Under Contract Already Signed With Tex—Former Titleholder Not Yet Signed

Chicago Man Declares Tunney Has Agreed for Bout Some Time in 1928

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The possibility that Jack Dempsey would seek the heavyweight crown of Gene Tunney next July appeared today as the former king of the pugilistic realm had a lengthy conference with Tex Rickard in the Garden. Although neither Rickard or Dempsey would admit that the talk concerned affairs of the future, the report was current that the promoter sought Dempsey's agreement to meet Tunney early in the outdoor season as a protection against the plans of Jim Mullen, Chicago promoter, to match the titleholder against a logical opponent in the Midwest some time in September. Rickard's agreement with Tunney is said to call for a title defense some time before September 1, 1928.

DEMPSEY NOT SIGNED
"I have not signed to fight anyone," Dempsey said, "and I haven't even decided whether or not I will enter the ring again. That must wait until spring. When the law suits of Jack Kearns and Teddy Hayes have been settled."

Dempsey admitted, however, that in case he does try again to lift the crown Tunney won from him at Philadelphia and defended successfully in Chicago, the battering will be done under Rickard's direction in accordance with an agreement tendered into some time ago. "Just now," Dempsey said, "I'm here to fight Jack Kearns' suit for $25,333.33. That opens in Trenton, New Jersey, on November 15. We're going to the mat to settle once for all whether he has any money coming to him from me."

MULLEN MAY BE PROMOTER
CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—An unwritten law that it is not a heavyweight championship fight unless Tex Rickard promotes it will be broken here next September if Promoter Jim Mullen, Chicago, carries out his plans as announced today. Mullen declared that Gene Tunney, while not binding himself to a written contract, indicated his readiness to defend his crown under Mullen's promotion some time after September 1, 1928. Mullen said Tunney would probably come to Chicago within a month, at which time a contract probably would be signed.

Mullen stated that he had plans under consideration which would bring Jimmy Walker and Tiger Flowers together in title bout, and that Sammy Mandell, in another, would defend his title.

HAGEN LEADS PRO TOURNEY

Defending Champion Goes Two Rounds in 141 to Top National Golf in the East

MOST FAVORITES ARE QUALIFIERS

WALTER HAGEN

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 31.—Walter Hagen, four times professional champion of the United States, proved his right to contend for the title this year, scoring an 141 here this afternoon to lead a field of sixty-five professionals in the qualifying round of the national professional golfers' tournament.

Hagen added a sparkling sixty-nine to a morning round of seventy-two to lead the field. Hagen was three strokes ahead of his nearest competitor, A. Alcott, of Youngstown, Ohio, and Joe Turnesa and Gene Sarazen, New York, who finished with 144. Al Espinosa, Chicago, was two strokes behind them with 146. Johnny Farrell ties Espinosa at 146, and Harry Cooper, of Waukegan, Wis., and Jack Farrell, of New York, scored 147.

Hagen scored his brilliant total after he had some tough luck in a trap in the first nine of the morning round and gave two over par. He was by far the steadiest man on the course, however, and came home in one under par to give him a seventy-two for the morning. In the afternoon he assaulted the first nine again and scored two birdies for a thirty-three, two under par. The last nine he negotiated in a par thirty-six.

PERELLI GIVES THRILL

John Perelli, of Feather River Inn, Cal., gave the gallery one of its biggest thrills when he negotiated his morning trip out in thirty-three, and came back in thirty-eight for a par seventy-one. Perelli is twenty

RICKARD LAUGHS AT GARDEN RUMORS

Has No Intention of Quitting as Head of New York Palace—Jealousies Reported

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Tex Rickard may be at odds with some of the directors of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, but the veteran promoter has no intention of severing his connection with the organization or relinquishing any of his authority as president and general manager. He made this clear today upon his return from a vacation. Faced with an assortment of reports of difficulties with his associates, even of rumors that he would be "ousted" from his position, Rickard dismissed them as "laughable."

His long term contract, which has more than twenty years yet to run, would be a sufficient barrier to any break in relations, Rickard pointed out, even if it was desired either by himself or by a majority of directors. Boxing observers, nevertheless, are convinced that a decided rift has occurred in the organization, involving some reported jealousies in the handling of big fight events such as the Dempsey-Tunney battle at Chicago. It is said some directors felt Rickard was too extravagant in handling some phases of the Chicago title affair.

British Heavyweight Dislikes American Food; Gets New Cook

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Beefsteak for breakfast and mutton with boiled potatoes and Brussels sprouts for dinner, are on the menu of Phil Scott, British heavyweight champion, who makes his American debut this Friday in a ten-round match at Madison Square Garden with Knute Hansen. Scott has found more difficulty with American food than with ring methods here. Over sweet, cream ridden dishes disagreed with him, he said, to such an extent that his manager obtained an English cook to serve him the beefsteak, mutton, etc.

Every Year Has Player-Manager Feud

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)
Hardly a baseball season passes without at least one widely broadcast feud between some star player and his manager. Last year it was the Alexander-McCarthy wrangle at Chicago and the McGraw-Frisch trouble at New York. This year it was the mysterious Bush-Cuyler case at Pittsburgh. Several years ago Miller Huggins and Babe Ruth of the Yankees had a run-in, and Huggins set the home run expert down for several weeks. Huggins a lot good, and it gave Huggins a rush more respect among his men.

Sometimes these feuds cure up. The Ruth-Huggins feud had ended, but other times the manager's only recourse is to get rid of the offending star. John McGraw had his prejudices against certain players, but he would never let them stand in the way of his team. For instance, McGraw never liked Buck Herzog, and Buck hated McGraw. Yet two or three times after McGraw had got rid of Herzog, he brought him back to the Giants because he thought he could help the team.

Death Rides on Golf Swing—Father Dies by Son's Club

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—Death rode on the swing of a golf club here Saturday to end in tragedy a father's lessons to his son in the rudiments of the links game. The tragedy, revealed today, occurred on a golf course when Donald Wesley, twelve, missing a golf ball on the tee, struck his father, Ben H. Wesley, in the head with his club.

The father, after illustrating the correct way to drive, gave the club to his son and stepped to one side. Donald's back-swing struck the elder Wesley on the right temple. Death was almost instantaneous.

AMATEUR HEADS FACE PROBLEMS

Will Meet Tonight at Y.M.C.A. in Another Effort to Clear Air of Baseball "Irregularities"

NEW TROUBLE HAS ARISEN

When the bosses of "Amateurism" gather at the Y.M.C.A. tonight at 8:15 o'clock they will face a new problem in the case of Stan Stanley, a Canadian Rugby player who was suspended by the U.C.T. Canadian Rugby squad, who played in Vancouver on Saturday while under suspension by the local board.

Stanley left Victoria on Friday night with the team, while it was understood the local board was trying to arrange a compromise. Stanley's case was brought into the case by getting an official of the Victoria Amateur Baseball League to take responsibility for Stanley's appearance against the Old Timers. This responsibility was not shouldered by the official, and as a result a wire was sent to Coach Cook, stating that Stanley was still on the outside.

The matter was then placed before the bosses of the "Big Four" Canadian Rugby League, and as a result Stanley was given permission to play for Victoria. Now the Canadian Rugby League with teams in Vancouver, New Westminster and this city have a direct conflict with the B.C.A.A.U. The champions of the "Big Four" league will play in the Canadian championships and this will decide once and for all just what affiliation the Canadian Rugby Union holds with the A.A.U. of C.

At tonight's meeting the Victoria Senior Amateur Baseball League will not be represented, as previously stated the league insists that it had nothing whatever to do with the game. The matter was then placed before the bosses of the "Big Four" Canadian Rugby League, and as a result Stanley was given permission to play for Victoria. Now the Canadian Rugby League with teams in Vancouver, New Westminster and this city have a direct conflict with the B.C.A.A.U. The champions of the "Big Four" league will play in the Canadian championships and this will decide once and for all just what affiliation the Canadian Rugby Union holds with the A.A.U. of C.

Nanaimo Lawn Bowlers Hold Semi-Annual Meet

NANAIMO, Oct. 31.—The semi-annual general meeting of the Nanaimo Lawn Bowling Club was held last evening at the Hotel Victoria. The former had made his appearance here against one of the men of H.M.S. Colombo, and scored a technical K.O.

In addition to the above-mentioned bouts, five others are mentioned, which will see such fighters as Elliott, Elliott, Heller, Sutton, Proby, Bloomfield, Townsend, Hudson, Neal, the fighting barber, and Silvers in action. The lads are working out nightly at 1305 Broad Street and the public is invited to see them at work.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—While Hoppe led Otto Reisset, world's three-cushion billiard champion, at the end of the second block of their 720-point match tonight, 120-103.

JACK EXPECTS TO FIGHT SOON

Dempsey Declares That He Hopes to Battle Within Next Four Months, Despite Rickard's Statement

EX-CHAMPION MAY MIX AT TIA JUANA

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Jack Dempsey says he expects to fight again within four months, and he doesn't care who the other man in the ring may be. This does not agree with Rickard's statements that the Manassa Mauler will hold off until Spring.

It is possible that "Sunny Jim" Coffroth will have Dempsey and some worthy opponent fight at Tia Juana. Though Coffroth has been interested in horse racing many years, the old-timers haven't forgotten the bouts he put on in his Mission Street Arena in San Francisco. "Sunny Jim" is a good match-maker. He is a close friend of Dempsey's.

WANTS TO KEEP BUSY
Four months from now February will be here. Rickard doesn't want to waste Dempsey's star drawing power on so limited a spot as Madison Square Garden, but he can't possibly put him on outdoors until late May or early June. On the other hand, the former champion wants to keep busy. He believes that two winning fights between now and late next Summer would put him in condition to beat Gene Tunney.

It is quite likely that the test will have the same conclusion as the other two, but Jack came so close to victory at Chicago that quite a crowd will be anxious to pay $40 each to see what he can do with another chance.

'HOAX' SWIMMER TO FACE COURT

London Newspaper Says That Summons Have Been Issued Against Physician and Trainer

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The News of the World said yesterday that the world's most famous swimmer, Horace Carey, who swam the English Channel but later confessed he had not, was to face the law. The newspaper said the summons was an indictable one, and asked prosecution of Dr. Logan and Carey under the Perjury Act.

The summons will be heard November 7 in the Mansion House, the police court of the old city of London, over which the Lord Mayor presides.

Dr. Logan was served with a summons at her lawyer's office, the newspaper said, while Carey was served at his home at Polkstone.

It was The News of the World that Dr. Logan was served with a check for $5,000 after she and Carey had made affidavits that she had beaten Gertrude Ederle's time in swimming the Channel. Pauline Henney may be considered seriously for a while, but when things get down to hardpan Jack Sharkey will be found in line for a return match with Dempsey, with the latter again winning the right to fight Tunney for a third time.

From a financial point of view, Tunney and Dempsey in 1928 will furnish what is known in the fight game as a "natural" contest, providing the public is willing to foot the bill.

BOXERS TRAINING FOR COMING CARD

Tillam Athletic Club Will Stage Boxing Tournament Next Saturday—Eight Good Bouts

Amateur fight fans are promised another good card Saturday at the Tillam Athletic Club gymnasium, 1305 Broad Street, with the first bout entering the ring at 8 p.m. Since the last card a number of boys have been working out nightly in preparation for the coming program. The committee in charge is pleased with the fighters it has lined up.

Jimmy Thomas, a newcomer to the city, is scheduled to don the mitts for three rounds with Ivo Henderson, in what promises to be a lively bout. The boys will tip the scales at 160 pounds. Both lads pack a heavy wallop, are shifty and technical K.O.

Young Drysdale, who gained the decision over Neal after an extra round, in the last card will be seen in action with Tim Keist. The latter, a recent arrival to the city, impresses in his workouts and should provide good opposition for Drysdale.

PILOT REFUSES TO SIGN AFFIDAVIT ON GLEITZ SWIM

POLKSTONE, Eng., Oct. 31.—Pilot Harry Sharpe, who directed the English Channel swim of Miss Mercedes Gleitz, London tylist, on October 7, has declined to sign an affidavit that she successfully negotiated the Channel. In explanation he merely said he refused to sign anything. He gave as his chief reason, first, that Channel swimming is a sport like boxing or football and in no other sport are witnesses asked to sign declarations on oath.

Second reason he offered in these words:

"If I put my name to a legal document I should have to answer questions put to me about the course I took in the Gleitz swim, and that course is my own secret, and that course is several years study, and I am not going to reveal it for anyone."

LEADING TEAMS TILT TOMORROW

Rennie and Taylor Will Face Garrison in Midweek Soccer Feature at Royal Athletic Park

HUDSON'S BAY TO OPPOSE NAVY XI

Interest in tomorrow's Wednesday League soccer will centre around the Rennie & Taylor-Garrison match at the Royal Athletic Park. Last week the Bakers ran into their first snag in the form of the Hudson's Bay eleven and dropped the first point of the season. Tomorrow they will face a strong Garrison eleven and a battle royal is expected.

Defeat for the Bakers will rob them of the premier berth for the first time this season, while victory will leave them still at the top. Realizing the strong opposition they will meet in the Tommies, Rennie & Taylor will trot out "Spud" Merfield for the first time this year. Gilbert will be back at fullback, while the rest of the team will be the same which has brought them to their present position.

NAVY TO PLAY NAVY
Tillam's, another second-berth team, will meet the Spanish United at Beacon Hill lower ground. The Clubmen will be at full strength in order to cop the points and keep in the running for the silverware. At the upper ground the Hudson's Bay will oppose the Navy in what should be an interesting game.

QUADRUPEL TIF

Providing the Garrison can beat the Bakers and the Tillam's and the Hudson's Bay come through with colors flying, a quadruple tie for first place would be created. Tomorrow's games will start at 3 p.m.

ONE SENIOR TEAM HERE THIS YEAR

Victoria City Ice Hockey Club Is the Name of New Body—Annual Meeting of League Is Adjourned

In an effort to give Victoria ice hockey fans something more than the usual league matches each week, a Victoria Ice Hockey Club, which will be composed of all the leading players in the city, was formed last night at an adjourned annual meeting of the Amateur Ice Hockey Association.

It is proposed to form an intercity league between Vancouver and Victoria, and to arrange any other outside exhibitions that would help to stimulate interest in the game.

The move, if successful, will no doubt meet with the approval of the many fans in the city, since the professional element left the city, interest has somewhat waned and it is hoped that a new league would help to put this great Winter pastime on its former footing. There is plenty of material available, according to reports, and judging from the amount of gossip around the various sporting clubs and organizations, the new league should receive plenty of support.

MAY DROP SENIOR LEAGUE

Last night's meeting was called as the annual parley of the Victoria Amateur Hockey League, but when it was found that no quorum was present, George I. Warren, president of the league, asked those present for their views as to the carrying out of amateur hockey for the present season. All were of the opinion that the formation of a senior league in the city was an impossibility, and after Secretary Harold Hewlett had made known how the league made out last year financially, their decisions were more emphatic.

A motion was made calling for the formation of the Victoria City Ice Hockey Club, and it was passed unanimously. The parley then proceeded to elect temporary officers, and Louie Tweedie, a well-known figure in local hockey circles, was elected president, and Harold Hewlett, secretary. The following committee for the purpose of organizing the club was elected: Alex Straith, Jack Sanders, Chet Downman, Stan Hansen, and Ross Outman. This committee will make every effort to arrange intercity games during the coming winter.

ASK IMMEDIATE ACTION

It is understood that they will get in touch with the Malheur officials immediately. The newly-formed body will be affiliated with the Victoria Amateur Hockey League.

The adjourned annual meeting of the league will be held in the Chamber of Commerce on Thursday, November 10, at 8 p.m. In addition to the club, which will in all probability be the only senior club in the city, it is expected that an intermediate league will be formed. This will be finally decided at next week's meeting.

"BIG FOUR" CHAMPS TO GO EAST AFTER CANADIAN TITLE

VANCOUVER, Oct. 31.—Champions of the British Columbia "Big Four" Canadian Rugby League will travel east to meet the winners of the Winnipeg Tammany Tigers-Regina Roughriders game for the championship of the Western Canada Rugby Football Union. This was announced by Jack Benham, secretary of the "Big Four" League. University of British Columbia and Vancouver will meet at Athletic Park on Thanksgiving Day in the last Vancouver game of the season. If Varsity wins they will be champions, but if Vancouver should win, Varsity will have to defeat Westminster to remain in a tie with Vancouver. Officials of the Western Union at Winnipeg have wired the "Big Four" heads that they want the British Columbia representative to be in either Winnipeg or Regina November 12. Local Rugby heads state, however, that they cannot be ready to play until November 19. This will be the first time that a British Columbia team has invaded the prairies.

FRENCH PRESIDENT TO MAKE DRAW FOR DAVIS CUP MATCHES

PARIS, Oct. 31.—The draw for the Davis Cup matches for 1928 will be made by President Doumergue at the Palace of the Elisee, February 3, with the diplomatic corps and several ministers present. This was the decision reached by the first meeting of the French Republic, after Rene Laroche, Henri Corbet, Jean Borotra and Jacques Brugnon, the "Four Musketeers" of French tennis, who brought the cup back from America, were his guests. They were introduced to the President by Pierre Gillou, who gave each of them the titles of champions of the various countries they competed in.

Dean Performs Hat Trick in Team's Win Over Portsmouth, While Newcastle Team Loses

50,000 SEE GAME AT BIRMINGHAM

Two Fatalities Reported From Football Matches—Pease and Forbes Score Three Goals Each

LONDON, Oct. 31.—Everton, who jumped to the top of the English First Division soccer standing by their win over Portsmouth on Saturday, one of their three goals to Dean, who has been playing splendidly this season. His total tallies so far amount to twenty.

The star match of the league was the tussle at Aston between the Villa and Newcastle United. The match drew a crowd of 50,000 spectators, who saw the home team crush Newcastle by three goals to nil. Dorrell started the scoring for the Villa after nineteen minutes of play. Walker scored a second counter in the second half and just before time Spencer headed Dorrell's free kick into his own goal. Pease did the hat trick for Middlesbrough against Bury, one of the goals bouncing in off a defending back. Carr got Middlesbrough's fourth, while Bullock netted for Bury.

40,000 AT HIGHBURY

FORBES DOES HAT TRICK
Forbes did the hat trick playing for Plymouth Argyle against Norwich City.
Bryant got to the hero class when he scored the winning goal for Millwall, after being injured. He insisted on returning to the game though his head was swathed in bandages.

Cowdenbath's three counters came from the toes of Rankin, Pullar and Leonard. Dunfermline registered through Bain, Dickson and Skinner, while Dundee's single goal was scored by Smith. Scorers in other matches were:

Campbell was second, one stroke behind. Campbell set a new record for the six-hole course, when he turned in a card of 20. The previous mark was 21.

QUAIL COME IN SEASON TODAY

Hunters Report Seeing Large Beves and Big Bags Are Expected to Be the Rule

WILLOWS CLOSE IN SOUTH OF ISLAND

Quail and willow grouse will become lawful game in most parts of Vancouver Island and the Mainland today, but local hunters are warned that willows cannot be shot on the island below a line just south of Parkville. This means that local sportsmen who want to try their luck after willow grouse will have to go up near Qualicum Beach before they will be able to let loose at this bird.

Judging from reports there appears to be plenty of quail in all districts. Hunters have reported seeing large beves in almost every district, and good bags are expected to be the rule.

The sections of the Game Act affecting willow grouse and quail on Vancouver Island and adjoining islands follow:

WILLOW GROUSE
Throughout Vancouver Island (except in the Cowichan-Newcastle and Esquimalt electoral districts) and all other portions of Vancouver Island situate and lying to the south thereof, except in the Islands electoral district (except Salt Spring Island) November 1 to November 30.

Throughout the remainder of the district (except Hornby Island and that portion of the Mainland known as the Municipality of Point Grey, including all lands of the Crown) November 15 to November 30.

QUAIL
On Vancouver Island, in the electoral districts of Cowichan-Newcastle and Esquimalt, and all other portions of Vancouver Island situate and lying to the south thereof, except in the Oak Bay municipality and on Salt Spring Island. Quail remain in season until November 30. Bob-white and mountain quail cannot be shot.

It will be their second meeting. They mixed for twelve rounds in 1925. Walker conceding fifteen pounds, with the decision in dispute. This time McTigue will have only about five pounds better in weight.

The House of Rogues

By CHRISTOPHER B. BOOTH

CHAPTER XXVII

Night had come to Picket Cove like the descending of a great, grey blanket—a grey blanket of fog pressing in from the sea and obscuring everything out of doors, and even the smell of it seemed to penetrate the dismal House of Rogues.

Baskerville and Tommy were brain weary, mentally exhausted by the fruitless pounding of their heads against the stone wall of mystery which hemmed them in. The bodies of the two dead men had been removed from the house to the undertaking establishment at Shoreham. Mrs. Kingslake, Polly and Mrs. Eastman were preparing to take the morning train back to New York. J. B. and his freckled aide stood in the study where John Strawn had met his death, striving again for some overlooked clue.

Following the inquest Tommy had searched the grounds and the beach, trying to find the puzzling shovel that Three-Finger Frank had bought in Pond Bay, there was no trace of it.

"Tommy," Baskerville said heavily, "I've been running down crooks and jailing malefactors for just about twenty years, and never have I found a case that promised so much and gave so little. If it weren't for the murder of Padden, his body in the cove, I think I should surrender to the obvious belief that Bob Dolliver killed Strawn in a fit of jealous rage."

Tommy shook his head. "Mix on Dolliver so far I'm concerned, J. B., he said. "He's wound up mighty tight, but he didn't do it."

Jasper Baskerville sighed heavily. "Perhaps not, Tommy; perhaps not, but the fact remains that a stone wall, we've canvassed every possibility that we can think of."

"Then, J. B., we'll canvass 'em again tomorrow and the next day," Tommy Oliver returned stubbornly.

The TOBACCO of QUALITY

"We'll stick to it until something turns up."

"That's the spirit," said Baskerville, but his voice was spiritless. "We'll stick to it, J. B., until we get to the bottom of it," persisted Tommy. "Until we find what Three-Finger Frank was doing."

"With the shovel," finished Baskerville. "That shovel seems to be an obsession with you, lad."

"It's a big thing, J. B. Did you find out how Paul Grimshaw hurt his finger?"

"I asked him about it, casually after the inquest; he says that he slammed a door on it. It sounds a reasonable explanation. What do you think of Grimshaw, Tommy?"

"I think that he's guzzling a lot of liquor for one thing. Oh, I know what you mean, but—"

"But," supplied Baskerville, "there is no way to reach the meaning of it, and his surprise was equal to that of Tommy."

"Hello, J. B.," grunted Muldoon. "Suppose you're surprised to see me down here, huh?"

"It means—Reynard," said Baskerville.

"You said it," nodded the other. "The Black Fox is here, but we've lost him in the fog."

"What!" cried Paul Grimshaw, who had been standing near the door. "The Black Fox—has come back?"

"Fink and I," went on Muldoon, "have had him in sight ever since he was dressed out of prison at nine o'clock yesterday morning. He caught the first train to New York and we followed him. In The Big Town we gave him the chance to think he'd given up the slip in a taxi, and it worked. He went to a hotel on Seventh Avenue and seemed that he expected to meet somebody there. No one showed up, and late this afternoon, thinking we'd lost his track, he went down to the Penny Station and caught a Long Island train."

"That was tip enough for us; we knew what that meant—that he was coming out here. Anyhow, to cut it short, J. B., he landed in Pond Bay an hour ago and we lost him in the fog—somewhere around the beach. Fink's down there watching now—aw, hell, what's the use? Two men's feet away in that fog, and he might as well be in Hong Kong for all the chance of finding him again."

Tommy Oliver who seemed the most excited by the news, his freckled face was eager as he put his hand on J. B.'s arm.

"He's come back for the plates!" he exclaimed. "Don't you see it? He's made arrangements to meet Three-Finger Frank, and when Padden didn't show up, and he thought he'd given the slip, and Muldoon the slip, he made tracks for here. He knows that Padden's either double-crossed him or has felt down on the job. He—Tommy broke off and his face lighted.

"I've got a scheme, J. B. He's waiting out there in the fog for a chance to make a break for the house and get the plates. We've got to give him that chance."

"Yes," agreed Baskerville, "that's the only thing he would have come for—the plates."

"And he'll make a try for the book-room," went on Tommy. "He'll wait out there in the fog until all the lights go out and he thinks the house is abandoned."

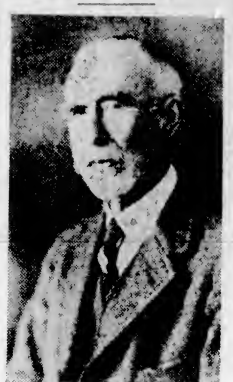

"But I can't see that will do us much good," said J. B. "It's not Philip Reynard that we want now, but the counterfeiting plates, and they have passed beyond his reach. The Black Fox, no doubt, thinks that they are still in the place where he left them fifteen years ago—provided that Three-Finger Frank has failed in his assignment."

ARTS EXHIBIT DRAWS MANY

ATTENDANCE OF OVER ONE THOUSAND GREATEST ON RECORD

Public Interest Shown by Numerous Purchases of Pictures and Crafts—Gifts to Helpers

MR. T. S. GORE
President of the Island Arts and Crafts Society.

With an attendance exceeding all previous exhibition week records, the Island Arts and Crafts Society closed its autumn display of home manufactures last evening greatly gratified with the increased interest shown by the public. The total admissions during the week were slightly over 1,000, a number never hitherto reached during the six-day period of the exhibition. Even last year, when the pictures and crafts were kept on view for an additional week in aid of the Solarium, the number was very little in excess of this.

Interest continued keen right up to the closing hour last evening, yesterday's attendance being more than two hundred. This was second only to Saturday's attendance of 250 when the exhibition was kept open both afternoon and evening.

Sales were proportionate to the interest. Nine pictures were sold and $90 of home manufactures, crafts as well as about $125 in the Canadian Crafts section. All the pictures sold were water colors, with the exception of No. 59, "A Forest Trail," by Bainbridge Smith, sold to Mr. Pagett; No. 71 and 81, "Poppies" and "Geraniums," by A. E. Grimes; No. 72, "At Brentwood," by L. M. Sylvester, sold to Mrs. Reed; No. 6, "Haida Canoes at Dawn," by A. M. D. Fairbairn; No. 108, "Canal Sluys," by J. M. Donald, sold to Major Piddington; No. 148, "Mount of the Holy Cross, Hope, B.C.," by Thomas W. Frapp; sold to His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Bruce; and three pictures sold to the Hon. W. C. Nichol: No. 65, "A Sunny Corner, Koksilah River," by Maude Lettice; No. 167, "The Last of the Totems," by A. M. D. Fairbairn; and No. 190, Egmont, B.C., by L. G. Fawkes.

In the crafts section further great interest was shown and several sales made, one of the most interesting being an order placed by the Hon. W. C. Nichol with Mrs. Grute for a duplicate set of the Island clay glazed cups and saucers which she had on display, and which sold earlier in the week to an American visitor.

The Arts and Crafts Society also purchased two or three pictures and crafts to present in appreciation of generous help given in connection with the exhibition. "The Arbutus," by Mrs. W. P. Young, was one of these, and some of Miss Travis' sketches of Cornwall were purchased for the same purpose.

Conveners of the various sections of the exhibition were as follows: Oils, Major Leslie and Mrs. Loveland; water colors, Miss M. Lettice; crafts, Mrs. Rose Willis; pastels, black and white, Mrs. Lillian Sweetney; selection committee, Mr. T. S. Gore, president, Mr. Bamford, vice-president, and Major Leslie, receiver. Mrs. M. B. Young, and general member, Mr. J. S. MacMillan, Mrs. Hodgins and Mrs. Harper conveyed the tea, with numerous able volunteers assisting.

NORMAN KERRY IS "WOW" IN KILTS

Proves Most Romantic as Scottish Chief in "Annie Laurie," Showing at Dominion

Girls—you can all imagine being thrilled by Norman Kerry. But—imagine being thrilled by Norman Kerry in kilts!

It's being done at the Dominion Theatre—and, funny as the kilts may sound, one gets an idea why people don't laugh at the Gordon Highlanders when they see Norman. He's more romantic as a Scottish chief than he ever was in any other role.

One just can't blame Lillian Gish for falling head over heels in love with him, even though he does belong to the enemy clan, which makes it a great faux pas on her part even to speak to the handsome warrior.

There's a lesson in it, too—for Miss Gish shows that love can wipe away the barriers of clan—and incidentally that love can change even history when it's strong enough. Hers was—and she did.

All of which is why "Annie Laurie," showing at the Dominion Theatre, is a picture that will thrill every girl to the heart.

JACK MULHALL AS "POOR NUT" SCORES

Strikes New Line in Story of College Life at Playhouse This Week

Jack Mulhall is at the Playhouse Theatre this week in an entirely new characterization.

Jack has been the smiling Irish lad and the tough "egg" in so many pictures that he will hardly recognize him when they see him in "The Poor Nut," his latest First National picture.

In this story of college life Jack plays the part of a student who suffers from an "inferiority complex" that gives him the title of the "poor nut." Through the influence of a beautiful girl and the advice of a friend, he decides to run on the cinder path Jack becomes the idol of the college.

The play of the same title, from which this play was adapted, ran in New York for a full year, it packed houses, and the picture is said to surpass the play in interest.

COLISEUM One of the most THEATRE compelling and primitive love stories ever told on the screen is embodied in the end, "A Woman's Word," at the Coliseum Theatre this week.

The romance between Will Banion and Molly Wingate, "the belle of the town," is a story of love, not only beautiful but inspiring. There is all the strength of romance, the rugged charm and the wildness of the wilderness that characterized the country in the days of '48. A bitter rival in the character of San Woodhull causes untold trouble but everything comes out all right in the end.

Another good value, the village bill was offered at the opening performance at the Coliseum last night, and, coupled with the rest of the show, made decidedly good entertainment.

COLUMBIA Miss Prevost will be THEATRE seen at the Columbia Theatre today and tomorrow in "Man Bait," her latest Metropolitan star picture.

Kenneth Thomson, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Adolphe Menjou, Gribbon, Louis Natheaux, Betty Francisco, Sally Rand and Fritz Ridgeway are the supporting players.

If the gates of laughter are opened by last night's audience at the Columbia Theatre, where Harry Langdon's latest feature length comedy, "His First Flame," is now showing, it is any criterion.

Then this famous funster is firmly established as the leading comedian of the screen. In this, Harry starts as a college graduate and winds up as a pseudo fire fighter, battling through flame and smoke to rescue the lady of his heart. And throughout the entire picture Harry maintains that inimitable blank expression of super-dumbness that has made him famous.

Allan Pollock in Popular Play Opens at Royal on Nov. 11

Allan Pollock, the celebrated star who is at present staying at the Guest House, Oak Bay, was amused when told that a well-known resident had declared at a tea party that she was sure she had seen him on an earlier visit. He recognized him from his last visit. This reminded him, he said, of an occasion in London not long ago when he had gone over to a neighboring table in the Savoy Hotel to take a light from the match stand. When he had sat down again at his own table an American visitor came up to him and said: "Say, did you ever act in the Willis Opera House, Kansas City?" The answer was in the affirmative. "I knew it as soon as you struck that match," I said to my partner, "there's only one guy with hands like that." Allan Pollock, the star of "The Bill of Divorcement," playing at the Royal Theatre November 11, was said to have the most expressive hands on the American stage. He is delighted to know that his feet and hands are mates.

"Aladdin" Opens at Royal Victoria Tomorrow Night

"Aladdin," the Old Country pantomime brought direct from London with principals, scenic settings and production intact, will be seen here at the Royal Theatre, starting tomorrow night for four days with a Saturday matinee. This theatrical entertainment will be presented by an all-English organization. The production is sponsored by All-Canada Tours, under the immediate supervision of B. E. Lang, who was responsible for the Canadian tours of the D'Oyly Carte Opera Co., Matheson Lang and Sir John Martin Harvey.

Palmer Christian Organ Recital at Metropolitan Tonight

A feature of the Palmer Christian organ recital to be given at the Metropolitan United Church this evening at 8:15 is that instead of the usual annotated programme, Mr. Christian will preface each of the items on his programme with a short talk explaining something of the characteristics and history in connection therewith. This procedure will greatly enhance the general interest of the recital, particularly to music students. Mr. Christian's experience as a concert organist, which embraces appearances with the New York, Chicago, Detroit and other symphony orchestras, as well as director of the organ department of the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, not only places him in the very front rank as a performer but also insures that his remarks during the course of his programme will be thoroughly instructive and interesting to everybody. Mr. Christian has spent several hours at the Metropolitan organ rehearsing his programme, and has expressed his pleasure at finding so fine an instrument at his disposal for tonight. In commenting upon the organ Mr. Christian said: "It undoubtedly is one of the finest instruments, tonally, that I have yet played upon and reflects his greatest credit upon its builders. I am looking forward to my recital here with every confidence and genuine pleasure." The recital is timed to begin promptly at 8:15 and there is every indication that it will be one of the most popular musical events of the season.

UNDERWORLD WINS POPULAR FAVOR

Capitol's Feature Picture Proves Impressive in Its Treatment of Drama of Life

"Underworld," a picture as frank as an expose by a fearless metropolitan newspaper, flashed its dramatic course on the screen at the Capitol Theatre yesterday and will continue to do so all this week.

This is one production that is as smashing in its treatment and that is also as absorbing as a drama of modern life.

It is impressive because it makes one think, in addition to being splendid entertainment. The unfolding of the lives of underworld characters in an environment of crime, their methods of preying on organized society, their ferocious struggles with men paid to uphold the law, and the intimate side of their natures in following out impulses and emotions in love and hate, provide the basis of the story written by Ben Hecht for Paramount.

On the stage this week the management are offering Ted Morris, an exceptionally fine eccentric dancer, Leo Courville, the boy who sings songs you like, and the stellar presentation introduces Kathryn Brown and company of artists supreme in a novelty surprise offering.

The Father—"My boy, think of the future."

Son—"I haven't! It's Clara's birthday and I must think of the present."

MANY STUDY NEW BUILDING

Good Progress is Made on Walls of Christ Church Cathedral Building by the Contractors

MORE DONATIONS TO BUILDING FUND

"It cannot be that the instinct which has led to the erection of cathedrals, and of churches in every village, is wholly mistaken and misleading. There must be some great truth underlying the instinct for worship, and that truth, if it could be grasped, must be more important to humanity in general than all the conveniences and applications which the progress of scientific knowledge has put into our hands."

These words were written by Sir Oliver Lodge in a recently-published article by the famous scientist, entitled "The Faith Within Us—The Interest of the Plain Man in Religion." Gothic cathedrals are usually of such a size and character as to attract public attention. They compel many to think of the reasons that lay behind the conception of the building and the erection of the building.

INTERESTING DEVELOPMENTS
As the construction of Victoria's new Cathedral proceeds, at the corner of Burrard Avenue and Quadra Street, the number of people who stop to examine its progress indicates the interest that this Gothic structure is arousing in the city.

Now that the walls of the north side have been brought nearly to the thirty-foot level of those on the south side, the different treatment of the windows has not escaped the notice of alert observers. On the south side there is one two-light window in each bay, while on the north side there are two single-light windows between each pair of buttresses. The stone work for the traceried heads of the south aisle windows is nearly ready, to add interest to construction on this side of the building.

The side walls of the Cathedral, as they stand today, are about one-third of the full height of the main walls of the nave. The side walls are to be built up to forty feet, at which point the clerestory will carry the walling for the higher part.

Work on the main doorway of the west front is proceeding step by step. In a few days, developments here will give a better conception of what this central feature of the Cathedral will look like when completed.

The main pillars between the nave and aisles are about twelve feet high, while certain of the pillars between the aisles and the ambulatories have been built to their full height of twenty-six feet from the floor.

NEW SUBSCRIPTIONS RECEIVED
In response to the appeal issued by the Cathedral Committee for an additional sum of $100,000 to complete the nave, the committee reports that new subscriptions are still being received.

Last week, the Five C's Cricket Club sent a donation of twenty-five dollars. An anonymous gift of the same amount was also received by the treasurer, Sir Richard Lake. From England came three pounds from a clergyman in London, and $144.89 from the churchwardens of Holmfrith Parish Church, Yorkshire, where the Dean of Columbia preached one Sunday during his recent visit to England. A contributor in Duncan sent twenty dollars, and a lady at Alberni forwarded five dollars which she won as a prize for fancywork at a fair.

A number of boys and girls have been actively working for the "Children's Corner" in the new Cathedral. As a result of their efforts, the sum of $321.39 has been received to date towards this section of the building. Of this amount, no less than $35.12 have been secured by these young people through commissions gained on subscriptions to the "Canadian Churchman."

The fact that the building is of local workmanship and is being erected with local materials appears to many. Hope is rising that construction may be continued, without cessation, until the nave, which is the portion required for seating accommodation, and, if possible, the dignified west front, exclusive of towers, may be finished.

TO MAKE VISIT TO WASHINGTON

Premier King Goes on November 22 and Lord Willingdon Two Weeks Later

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Canadians will play a prominent part in the official and social life of Washington at the beginning of this season. Governor-General Viscount Willingdon and Lady Willingdon will pay their first courtesy call on President Coolidge on December 6. Two weeks earlier, on November 22, 23 and 24, Premier King will pay a visit to Washington and be received at the White House. It will be Mr. King's first call upon Mr. Coolidge. His last visit here was during the regime of the late President Harding.

On Armistice Day, Colonel Ralston, Canadian Minister of Defence, will come down from Ottawa to represent the Canadian Government in the unveiling of the Dominion's memorial to United States citizens who lost their lives during the Great War while in the service of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces. Premier King's visit to Washington is said to be of a purely social character.

The visit of the Governor-General and Lady Willingdon will be unique in that it will be the first time the titular head of a British Dominion, representing under the changed Imperial status defined in London a year ago, not the British Government, but only the British Crown, has visited Washington. It also will be the first time a representative of the British Crown has entertained the President of the United States on Canadian soil in Washington.

Dr. Dolmage to Speak Here On Finlay River Area

Addresses and lectures arranged for the winter season by the Vancouver Island Prospector's Association will include an address by Dr. Dolmage, of the Geological Survey of Canada, illustrated with lantern slides, on the Finlay River district, to be given November 13 and to be followed at later dates by a series of talks on "Economic Geology" by Mr. George E. Winkler, an address by the Rev. Robert Connell on the "Geology of Vancouver Island" and an address by the Rev. W. W. Bolton on "A Trip on Foot Through Vancouver Island From North to South," while Mr. J. D. Galloway has kindly consented to speak after the New Year. Other addresses and lectures will be arranged.

Bishop to Bless New Parish Rectory

Right Rev. C. V. Schofield, Bishop of Columbia, will officiate at the dedication and blessing of the new rectory of St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The new rectory is in the church precincts. It has been erected by the parishioners largely as a thank-offering for sixty years' parish history. A nine-roomed frame house, its general lines are in harmony with the church. Facing on Lyle Street, its surrounding grounds are spacious, and there is a splendid view of the Bluffs. The construction was planned and carried out under the direction of Mr. J. E. Macdonald, rector's warden and chairman of the building committee.

A brief history of the parish is available to any parishioner or friends who are interested.

MOOSEHEART DAY MARKED IN CITY

Local Branch of Moose Order Remembers Its Institution for Children

Annually, all lodges of the Loyal Order of Moose celebrate the foundation of Mooseheart, the home of the children of departed Moose members, and on Friday evening,

Victoria Lodge, 1206, held open house in the K. of P. Hall, fully 250 members and their friends being present.

The first part of the programme was devoted to speeches by prominent members of the order, interspersed with instrumental and vocal selections. The first speaker was Bro. C. E. Copeland, P.D., who chose for his subject "Mooseheart," a subject on which he is well versed, having visited there some four years ago. Bro. S. Honeychurch, prelate, next delighted the audience with old-time songs. Supervisor J. F. Pearce followed with a talk on the aims and objects of the order, and concluded with a lively sales talk. During the evening he received many inquiries and requests for application forms from prospective members.

Miss Winifred White gave recitations which brought the crowd from tears to laughter, and later rendered two songs, and as a result received quite an ovation. Brother Past Dictator W. D. Taylor concluded the first part of the programme with a talk on "Mooseheart," the home of the aged and infirm members of the order, and went very fully into the fact that at Mooseheart man and wife are not separated.

The hit of the evening was at the 9 o'clock ceremony, which is performed at that hour wherever Moose are gathered together, it being the hour at which the children at Mooseheart are kneeling at their bedside offering up their prayer to the Supreme Dictator of the Universe.

pressive, the actual scene was depicted in a tableau. Mrs. Taylor is to be complimented for her untiring efforts to perfect the tableau.

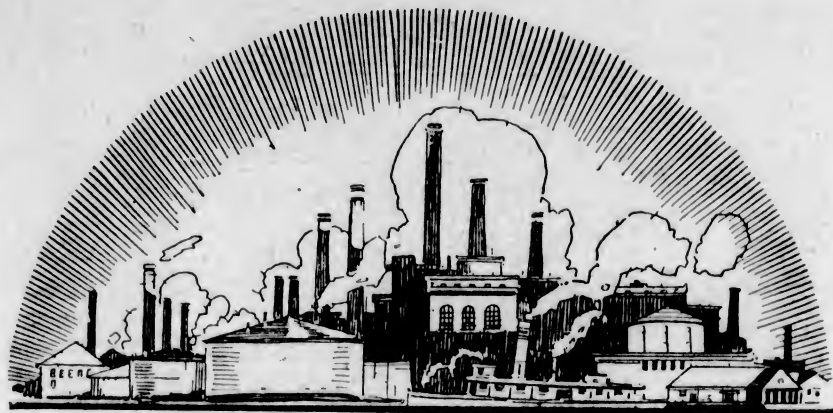

Dancing followed this ceremony to the strains of a very capable orchestra, under the leadership of Bro. W. D. Kettle, and continued until midnight, everyone retiring at that hour well satisfied with the evening's entertainment.

The master of ceremonies for the evening was Bro. Dictator R. H. Lott, who performed the duties in a very pleasing manner, and the committee in charge were Bros. Taylor, Leach, Pearce and Kettle.

BRITISH BY-ELECTION

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The conferring of a peerage on Ronald F. McNeill, financial secretary of the treasury, removes him to the House of Lords and therefore involves a by-election in the constituency of Canterbury. Owing to its long association with ecclesiastical and military life, Canterbury will probably remain loyal to the Conservatives. McNeill in the last four elections fought two Laborites and two Liberals successfully. He had a majority of 344 in the last election. It is expected that the new Conservative candidate, Sir William Wayland, who is now a resident in the riding, will be opposed by Colonel Carnegie Liberal, and a Labor candidate who probably will be chosen by London headquarters.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK MCCOY

How often we hear of the death of a prominent citizen who seemed in the best of health until he suddenly had a "breakdown" and passed quickly away. Do you suppose such an occurrence would be possible if he were really in perfect health? He may have weighed 200 pounds and still, if he suffered a sudden collapse, there must have been a secret physical weakness which made such a thing possible.

In time of earthquake, no matter how large the building, it cannot be seriously injured if properly constructed. Concrete buildings properly reinforced with steel are not affected by the severest shock. Mother Earth has yet given. Concrete buildings often crumble at the slightest shock if not enough iron is used in the construction to adequately hold the concrete together. I was recently admiring a beautiful office building which only a few days after was a mass of ruins. Upon inquiry I found that not sufficient steel had been used to properly reinforce the concrete; when a shock occurred, it crumbled as readily as other buildings of a flimsier construction.

Are you building the "house" you live in—your physical body—with such carelessness? Are you under the delusion that a large body is essentially a healthy one? Do you know that each cell of your physical organism must have the requisite amount of such minerals as lime, and also that enough iron must be present in each cell to add the needed strength to the cell? Most of the time you do not realize how flimsy your body is until some emergency arises, as it did during the influenza epidemic, when those with large bodies collapsed so suddenly, if they did not have a physical structure as strong as it looked. Nature may have endowed you with natural strength, but if this is dissipated by excesses you will find that in a great crisis you do not have enough reserve to fall back on. Do you awaken in the morning feeling as tired as when you went to bed? If so, you need to check up on yourself and find out what is causing your depletion of strength. Can you walk five miles without fatigue? If you cannot, start today and ascertain what errors you are committing which are producing this lack of endurance. Do you fall asleep while reading the evening paper? Perhaps you are overworking your nervous system.

Do not wait to remedy your bad habits until it is necessary to go to the doctor, or the undertaker may be called in. Take in first a danger in staggering along under a load of bad habits until necessity calls a halt. It is then often too late to remedy the trouble. You never get sick at a convenient time, and you must not think that your yearly vacation will cor-
